AN UP-TO-DATE STOVE

Do you realize there is no longer any reason why you should use a coal range? Oil is cheaper than coal; it is lighter and easier to handle, and gives an intense heat. Provided you have the right stove, oil is more economical, cleaner and less trouble. Have you seen the

New Perfection

The accompanying illustration gives you only a rough idea of its appearance. You really can't appreciate it until you either use it yourself, or talk to someone who has used it. It does everything that a coal range will do—except heat the room. The New Perfection Oil Cookstove will do anything, from heating a kettle of water to cooking a course dinner, but it won't heat a room. It doesn't "smell," it doesn't smoke. It can't get out of order. Light it and it is ready. Turn it down and it is out.

is ready. Turn it down and it is out. Only a woman who knows the trouble of carrying coal and cooking in a hot kitchen can appreciate what it means to have a clean, perfect stove that will cook anything, boil, bake or roast, and yet won't heat the kitchen. How is it done? The flame is controlled in turquoise-blue enamel chimneys, and directed against the bottom of pot, pan, kettle or oven, and only there. The flame operates exactly where it is needed

-and nowhere else. With this stove your kitchen is cool.

The nickel finish with the bright blue of the chimneys makes the stove orna-mental and attractive. Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without Abolition of the Ducking Stool. The most noteworthy of all the instruments designed for the correction of Eve's offending daughters was the ducking stool, known as the tumbrel and the trebuchet. A post, across which was a transverse beam turning on a swivel and with a chair at one end, was set up on the edge of a pond. Into the chair the woman was chained, turned toward the watera muddy or filthy pond was usually chosen for this purpose when available-and ducked half a dozen times, or if the water inflamed her instead of acting as a damper she was let down times innumerable until she was exhausted and well nigh drowned. From the frequency with which we find it mentioned in old local and county histories, in church wardens' and chamberlains' accounts and by the poets (Gay, for one, has a description of the process in his third pastoral, "The Shepherd's Week") we shall probably not be wrong in concluding that at one time this institution was kept up all over England. In Liverpool it was not formally abolished until 1776 .- London Graphic.

Circumspect.

A very circumspect and conscientious young miss of four was sent into the parlor of a certain Philadelphia household to entertain a caller for a few minutes until her mother should

The conversation drifted to a discussion of the youngster's intellectual acquirements, and the visitor asked: "Do you know the alphabet, Marie?"

"Yes, ma'am." "Will you say it for me?"

Marie began glibly enough, but after she had given three or four letters she stopped short, saying, "If you please, ma'am, I don't think I better say any more." "And why not?" asked the caller.

"Those are not all I know," explained the youngster; "but, you know, says I mustn't tell all I Marble Polishing.

Marble polishing is simple and quickly done. The cakes are carried from the sawing room and placed on a flat revolving Iron table. The iron brushes off the rough particles on the surface, and the operation takes about five minutes. Then the slab is attacked by a man with an emery wheel, Three grades of emery are used, and it's only about a minute to each grade. Next come three doses of felt, each time the felt growing finer in grade. The felt is attached in a layer to a flat wheel, spun by electricity, and as it hums you can see the marble begin to sparkle. The finishing touches are put on with the use of a fine felt rub, oxalic acid and oxide of zinc. The operator simply smears the surface with the mixture, gives a couple of minutes' vigorous turn of the wheel, and the slab then goes to the packer .-

Field and Nye.

Eugene Field was a great lover of old books and quite a collector of them. His means were not adequate to his desires, however, and one of the quaintest proofs of this was a slip of paper found by a purchaser of an old volume in Field's handwriting, evidently an impromptu verse:

Kind friend, for goodness' sake forbear To buy the book thou findest here, For when I do obtain the pelf I mean to buy the book myself.

Another bit of rhyme which is thoroughly American is in the preface to ne of Bill Nye's books. It runs:

Go, little booklet, go, Bearing an honored name, Till everywhere that you have went They're glad that you have came.

Castor Oil.

The castor bean is a native of India. The United States produces most of the coarser kind of oil, while all the finest comes from Italy. Common castor oil is of an ugly greenish tinge and has to be allowed to stand in the sun to bleach, but the Italian article is beautifully clear when first cold drawn. Cold drawn oil is the best. It is got by crushing the fresh seeds between steel rollers. The castor oil plant can be grown in English, but there it is an annual. In southern Italy it becomes a tree twenty feet high and strong enough for a child to climb up into it.
